“If These Gowns Could Talk”

Find out why women dropped their corsets, and more...

From our President, Sue Ballew

The Carson City Historical Society presents a new exhibit, "If These Gowns Could Talk" that will cover Edwardian and Victorian fashions--the how and why of fashion along with a photographic exhibit of early Carson City around 1900. The exhibit will open on Sunday, April 24 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Foreman-Roberts House, 1207 North Carson Street, Carson City, NV. 89703 (the little yellow house on Main Street). Donations are accepted.

We are currently in need of volunteers to help with the exhibit. A tour training is available on Sunday, April 3 at 1 p.m. Our phone number is (775) 882-2174, please leave a message, or call Sue at 775-220-6278.

The Carson City Historical Society is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that was formed in 1969 as The Nevada Landmarks Society to help save the Roberts House and other Landmarks from being demolished. Through volunteer efforts, the Foreman-Roberts House was saved. We changed our name in 2000 to become the Carson City Historical Society to better serve the public.

Our website address is: cchistorical.org. We are on Facebook, and we welcome all new "friend" requests. Our e-mail address is carsoncityhistoricalsociety@gmail.com

Carson City, Nevada.

This Gothic Revival Home was built in Old Washoe City in 1864 by Solomon Foreman. It was purchased by James D. Roberts for his family and later moved to Carson City, November 1874 where it has been ever since.

David Bugli, our Secretary & involved community member hosts a monthly lecture series. This last one was with Glen Whorton of the Nevada State Prison Preservation Society. If you missed that one you missed a lot. Watch our website, social media, your inbox and Carson Now to be notified of upcoming lectures.
